

SAI CONFLUENCE 2014

It takes only two words to illuminate the face of any child. The word Annual Function seems to possess that very magic. It brings a brigade of extensive hard work, palpitating hearts and a deep commitment to prove oneself on the stage. Confluence 2014, the annual cultural function of SAI International School was testimony to the fact that all good things come in small packages. A two day musical extravaganza presented by the little wonders of Playgroup to Class III on February 11 and 12, 2014 was a delightful display of their talent.

The tiny tots from Playgroup to Kg-II took to the stage with utmost ease and comfort leaving everyone spell bound. Their tentative steps and exceptional confidence left everyone awestruck and surprised. On the theme of "Nature Nurtures", the kids presented a pageant of the myriad verticals of nature laced beautifully with seasons to plants to animals.

The wonders of Class I-III spectacularly displayed the cultural richness of the world, all amalgamating the idea of "one world, one family". Through their musical sojourn, they narrated tales of the eight unique flavors from the SAARC Countries, attempting to spread the message of peace, purity and prosperity.

Chairman, Dr. Bijoy Sahoo in his address to the parents talked about the importance of early childhood brain development and humbly appealed the parents to help and support the School for laying a strong foundation for the child's life. He also shared with them the methodologies and theories of the School curriculum. He concluded by saying that watching the little kids perform beautifully on stage gives him an unmatched happiness and he takes pride in all his children.

Principal Harish Sanduja in his address said these cultural functions helps each child get a platform to show case ones talent in dance, music and dramatics. This is an endeavor towards building a sense of confidence in the hearts of the young ones.

“When kids sway to the beats of a melodious song our hearts are filled with a sense of pride”, said a parent. Another parent congratulated and applauded the teachers for putting up a great show and thanked the School for giving a chance to the kids to get over the stage fright.

We at SAI International believe that these cultural extravaganzas not only help in projecting the talents of the children in various fields but also teach them the virtues of patience, sharing and caring and most importantly the value of consistent hard work which is a prerequisite for excellence.
